

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5     A transmission line includes a transmission line substrate, a signal line, and a first ground pattern that is provided on the transmission line substrate and is located between the transmission line substrate and a metal wire used to connect the signal line to a component.